He is In Jail.

Grazzy Snake's Indian War Ends Behind the Prison Bars.

He Says the Great Spirit Will Insure Him Justice.

MANY INDIANS STILL IN HIDING.

Muskogee, I. T., Feb. 4.—"Crazy" Harjo or "Crazy Snake," the leader of the warring Creek Indians, and 17 of the minor leaders of that tribe, have been landed in the federal jail here, where they will be held pending trial for treason. The Indians have been here from Henrietta under escort of Troop A Eighth cavalry, and United States Marshals Bennett and his posse. It is stated that certain attorneys who it is asserted here misled the Indians may be prosecuted.

Marshal Bennett states that while most of the Indians are in hiding, some are still trying to hold meetings. A posse will be sent to arrest Chief Lottah McKoo, the real chief of the Creek. When placed in prison here, Harjo and his followers were searched, fumigated, their shackles removed and all placed in one large cell. A newspaper correspondent with the assistance of an interpreter, had an interview with Crazy Snake, who said that he saw no reason for arrest and felt confident when the Indians were given a trial before the great white father's court they would be released. He said they were acting in good faith and had papers from Washington that gave them the right to establish their old government. As to all the talk about killing whites, he said it was never their intention and they expected to treat and act so as to do nothing finally to get whites out. He also said that the "great spirit" would see that they got justice, even though their white father in Washington and the oil syndicates were trying to rob them of their once happy hunting ground.

A Presidential Succession Query.

A correspondent says he wishes to know who would be acting president if President McKinley and Vice President Roosevelt were to die immediately after inauguration.

In that event the duties of the Presidential office would devolve temporarily on the present Secretary of State.

The correspondent is mistaken when he assumes that neither he nor any of the other Secretaries could act unless re-appointed by the new President.

The Secretaries, with the exception of the Postmaster General, are not appointed for fixed terms. Should President die with his present Cabinet officers to remain, and they are willing to do so, there is no need of re-appointment.

Therefore, if the President and Vice President were to die on March 4 Secretary Hay—if he did not die also—would become Acting President and would, in obedience to law, convene Congress in extraordinary session. Congress doubtless would enact a law for a special election, and until it was held a President and Vice President chosen, the Secretary of State would be at the head of the government. So, if Bryan and Stevenson had been elected and both were to die on March 4, President McKinley would go out, but Secretary Hay would remain in, and a Redoubt administration continue until a new election could be ordered, or, doubt, even if one House were Republican. Public sentiment would demand a new election. Until it had been held Democratic office-seekers would have no power to possess their souls in patience—Chicago Tribune.

Chicken thieves have again commenced making their raids on the homes of the good housewives of Campbellsville, and many dozens of valuable pens have been stolen. While Campbellsville has some good and highly respected colored citizens, there are others who are not worth the powder it would take to blow them to hash. These trifling scoundrels will do but little unless by robbing white people and their fortunate colored brother. A whipping post would be a good place at which to punish such fellows.—Times—

The Assassination Cases.

Garnett Ripley, Captain of the illegally-organized Henry county military, which occupied so prominent part in the proceedings at Frankfort last winter, has been indicted, and is now in jail charged with being accessory before the fact to the murder of Governor Governor.

It is reported that governor Beckham will send a strong military force into the mountains after Bill and John Powers, both under indictment for the murder of Governor Goebel, both defended.

It is believed that as soon as the requisition papers for Taylor and Finley are served upon the governor of Indiana and refused—as they surely will be—a big reward for the two fugitives will be offered by either governor Beckham, or the Goebel Reward Commission, or the Goebel brothers. It is thought that a reward of $5,000 or $10,000, will smoke the accused murderers out.

Michael Fanning was fatally shot in New Orleans by his son who thought him a burglar.

The Register reports a disagreeable day and dull court at Richmond Monday. Not more than 50 horses and the same number of mules changed hands; some good mules brought $125 which was a top price. Horses sold at from $40 to $60 and were a drag; about 1,500 cattle were on the market at the pens and less than one third the number found purchasers at prices ranging from $3 to $6.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 13.

The small-pox epidemic at Somerton has about run its course.

Albert C. Stoll, who was a prominent lawyer of Louisville, is dead.

The friends of Representative Pugh feel sure that he will be appointed Judge of the new Federal district.

Mrs. Carrie Nation continues to smash saloons. She is arrested every day, to be immediately turned loose.

Hon. D. H. Smith has shied his castor for the United States Senate and wants a primary election—Goodnight.

Henry Youtsey has commenced doing time in the penitentiary, and only has a life-time to serve. He was placed in the cooking department.

The revenue men of the Eighth district have presented Mrs. John W. Yerker with a handsome tea service, six pieces, which cost two hundred dollars.

Rolla White was acquitted at Williamsonburg for killing James Shotwell, and in the conspiracy case against the Shotwells for blowing up White's store, the jury disagreed.

Circuit Judge W. W. Kimbrough of the Eighth Judicial district, died at Carlisle last Thursday night. He had been indisposed for a week, but had been on the bench every day of the term until a few hours before he died.

Hon. T. C. Bell, a prominent lawyer and politician, who died at his home in Harrodsburg several days ago, was one of the best known men in the State. He was active at all Democratic gatherings, and was a leading spirit in the Baptist Church.

Weaver, the strolling barber, charged with perjury in the Powers' case, was given a trial at Georgetown last week. A great many witnesses were introduced and the case given to the jury. Thursday. After deliberating several hours they could not agree and were discharged.

In an opinion of the Attorney General of the State the Reaves brothers, who robed and burned a large portion of Tompkinsville a number of years ago, and who escaped from the penitentiary, but were recently returned, forfeited their good time allowance when they escaped.

Details of the great steel deal have been made public. Mr. Carnegie is to be guaranteed 5 per cent per annum on his $86,000,000 of bonds, and for his $86,879,000 of stock in the Carnegie Steel Company is to be given bonds to the value of the various other steel properties involved in the deal. Thus Mr. Carnegie, will, in effect have a mortgage on the entire steel industry of the company, and but little cash will be required to conduct the negotiations.

It would probably be a wise act and a judicious expenditure of money if Congress would appropriate sufficient means to build a prison purposely and exclusively for Colonial Post Office smugglers.

Representative Griggs, of Georgia, made the Post Office appropriate bill the text for a speech full of common sense against the tendency on the part of Congress to increase the salaries of Federal employees. For instance, the following, the truth of which every one must acknowledge: "I undertake to say that there is not an employee of the government, who devotes his whole time to his service, who does not receive greater pay than he would for like service in private life. There is not an employee in the government service today who did not better his or her condition financially when he entered it. There is not one who, if he could better his condition in other service, would not resign tomorrow. Then, why this paternal interest in government employees? All of them are free men and women, and of full age. Why should we make them wards of the nation? How is this fatherly interest of legislators, so lately aroused, in what seems to me a cancerous growth eating its way to the very vital of the American body politic, to be accounted for?" Mr. Griggs answered the last question by citing the growth of associations of various classes of government employees, organized ostensibly for other purposes but actually used to lobby for a Congressional increase of the salaries of their members.

This session of Congress will see in close and it is to be hoped that the infamous ship subsidy bill will go down never to rise again, though strong efforts are being made to make it law. It seems to us that under the Constitution such a measure could not stand, but the party that controls Congress also interprets the constitution; the party that gave bounties to sugar kings is the saddle. It's record is full of class legislation from the building of gigantic tariff walls around a pen of bad industries to the seizure and control of foreign countries. Theoretically it is a party of freedom and a lover of the constitution; practically, it has enslaved millions of people in other lands; has earned the flag 7,000 miles from the supreme law of the land and seeks to dictate to a free and independent people the language of a constitution. Progress, commercial advancement, class interests, emanated its leaders and blinded its followers, but some day the great mass of people may awake to the true situation.

All the papers are talking about a State primary election law, and a large majority of them favor such a measure. The Elizabethan News, speaking upon the subject says: "There will be a bill submitted to the next Kentucky Legislature providing for a State Primary to nominate all municipal, county, district and State officers for all political parties which poll over twenty percent of the vote, and for a general registration on the day of the primary which shall be fixed by the law. The bill will be drafted very much after the new law adopted by Minnesota with a few changes to suit special conditions in Kentucky. The bill will, if enacted into a law, illuminate from politics and give the people of the State time to discuss something else but politics."

Congress has had under consideration for some time the repeal of the obnoxious law requiring a stamp on bank checks, and the people throughout the entire country expected this annoying tax would pass away, but it remains and those who give checks must continue to lick and cancel. It appears that this tax was retained for the purpose of reducing the beer tax—pander to the wishes of the brewers. In choosing between the interest of corporations and the interest and convenience of the great bulk of the people, Congress has not departed from the teachings of the dominant party.

It would probably be a wise act and a judicious expenditure of money if Congress would appropriate sufficient means to build a prison purposely and exclusively for Colonial Post Office smugglers.

The possibility of an extra session of Congress to deal with the Cuban question was discussed by the Cabinet last week. Attention was called to a paragraph in the President's message, by which he is said to still stand firmly. That paragraph said in substance that Cuba would not be turned over to the Cubans until the United States was certain as to the Constitution. In other words, the Constitution must suit the United States first and then the Cubans.

The Republican party of the Tennessee Legislature recently adopted resolutions endorsing Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, for President of these United States. Well, Mr. Beveridge is a shrewd man, but it seems very strange that Tennessee Republicans should overlook Brownlow. No doubt if he was president he would move the capital city to East Tennessee. Brownlow has pulled Congress longer, stronger and more successfully than any man in America. This action of Tennessee Republicans is a case of ingratitude.

GRADYVILLE.

Rev. Hulse filled his regular appointment last Sunday and gave an excellent sermon. L. S. Smith spent several days of last week in Metcalfe county, looking after stock.

Mr. Dan Card the up-to-date butcher of Robinson Norton & Co., of Louisville spent Saturday night and Sunday in our town. Mr. Card created a little excitement by driving in with four horses hooked to his drummer's wagon, all apparently heavy loaded. He informed us that he was so heavily loaded and the roads so hard that he found it a great inconvenience in getting over the country with plenty of power.

Messrs. James Compton and Rowe made a business trip to our town one day last week in a vehicle, and just as they were crossing the creek coming into town their conveyance came unhooked, letting them down in the water any where from two to four feet deep. Mr. Compton says he is not in the habit of using profane language. The public must pardon him for saying dam that old buggy.

Died, on the 6th Mrs. Nancy S. Barnes, wife of Mr. Jim Barnes, in her 65th year. She had been a sufferer for over thirty years. She was a Christian in the truest sense, a strict member of the Baptist church. Her last days were her happiest. She leaves a husband and several children to mourn their loss of a companion and dear mother. The funeral services were conducted by Revs. Wilson and Roach, her remains interred in the family burying ground at her home.

Died, on the 9th, Mrs. Leslie Moneyham, of consumption.

Born, to the wife of W. S. Pick, on the 4th, a daughter.

SENSATION—TALK OF THE HOUR.

The separation of T. L. Humble and wife, of Kimble, has not only been the talk of the people of Russell county, but it has been largely discussed in Columbia during the past few days.

In order to get at what the public wants to know, we have sent a reporter to Jamesstown to get the following concerning the most sensational news that ever happened in Russell county. The woman who has become a feature in the exciting trial, daughter of Judge of John D. Irvine, an ex-convict of the Humble.

After eight of ten years ago Mr. L. B. Irvine, their mail carrier, and a little daughter about seven years old. It is reported that for several months Dr. F. A. Taylor had been frequently about the Humble residence, and his movements were closely observed, but it was predicted that he would ultimately separate Humble and wife.

Mr. Humble was taken sick on Sunday night and the Saturday before Dr. Taylor was in Kimble and arranged to meet in Russell county boys are getting along nicely, and are progressing rapidly with their studies.

The activity in the slave business, buying and pricing tobacco, the furniture factory and other enterprises, too numerous to mention, will certainly make money more plentiful in Columbia.

I am now getting together all remnants of winter goods, odds and ends. You can get great bargains by coming and examining prices. Cut on all heavy goods.

The Adam County News. In your last week's issue of The News, an article stating that I had suffered myself and left my children to the care of my wife, Mrs. J. M. K. Taylor, after I had been exposed to the disease of small-pox. I respectfully ask that you do me the favor to publish in the columns of The News the following, viz., I am the son of the officers of the State of Kentucky, and I have visited a patient affected with small-pox, but was not near enough to the patient to expose my clothing, and it was not necessary for me to undergo a severe operation to remove the pustules, but taking all precautions, I did not expose myself to the wood department of the school-house and fumigated my clothing, and some one learning of same, and telling it to me, I did not expose myself to the public by telling this thing of something, and who wishes to alarm those who fear the hereafter and that I am a sinner, to cause to have the above article published—so those who would have the power to do so, will make a very desirable service to the public with small-pox, can rest assured if they will keep themselves clean and bright, their tongues will be no danger of catching small-pox, and will be better terms with mankind.

The sum will be paid in installments of $10,000 each.

Lots, in lots numbers, have been sold to other parties. It now looks like the local firm will soon have all they own on their various yards sold.

The recent sales will bring lots of $2,000 to $3,000.

It is believed that the firm here has made some money. There is a great deal of expense attached to getting out, and taxes, and it would be handled fairly in order to bring a good price.

A new organization was formed in town last week and styled "Southern Kentucky Anti-Matrimonial Association." Its motto is: "We are unto a man who marries in the days of his youth, and unto a man who marries in the days of his old age." It is believed that this association will, if true to the organization, withdraw from the society of the young ladies.

Some of our best young men are members of this ill-fated association, and it is believed that they will be the ones who will be the most attractive in the city.

Rev. T. F. Walkup took for his subjects, Sunday night, the parable of the prodigal son, the parable of the prodigal son, drawing a very forcible lesson. They were all commanded to make ready for the brilliant occasion.

Five of them got lamps, but then turned and burned and when they came back to the door, the door was shut. The other five prepared themselves to enter and kiss the prodigal son, but the door was shut. So it is with sinners who suffice their weaks, and who do not turn back to the door of salvation. The door will be shut, to never again be opened unto them. The present is the day of salvation. Prepare to meet thy God.

Rev. T. F. Walkup will be here for the Adair County Court.

STATE NEWS

Ham Jackson was found dead at his home near Milton.

Caldwell county has fifty-seven candidates for the various county offices.

The two-year-old daughter of A. E. Smith at Paducah was shocked to death by a walnut kernel.

While hauling logs, Charles Edwards, of Mercer county, was killed by a log rolling off a wagon and falling on him.

Guy Burdette, a young man of Daviess county, died as the result of a blow received while wrestling with a friend.

At Lancaster Edward Minor was shot three times and seriously wounded by Circuit Clerk William H. Hamilton.

Masked robbers went to the home of Sam Newsom, an invalid merchant in Pike county, and forced him to give up $200.

Charles Hicks, of Colbin, was found dead on the road near Louisville. He had fallen from his wagon and was frozen.

An election on local option, at Cribbin resulted in a victory for the saloon era. Corbin has been a "dry" town or eight years, but "blind tigers" have flourished all the time.

Mary Heitz, wife of Edward, was kindling a fire with kerosene on a shanty boat below Mayfield, when the can exploded. The boat was burned up and the woman was burned to death.

James Herndon, of near Needmore, Nicholls county, claims the distinction of being the oldest living person in Kentucky. He was 103 years of age the 7th day of last month, having been born January 7, 1798.

"It is such a pity as this that make futile all efforts to surprise vice," was the way Judge Barker characterized a verdict of not guilty against Abe Roberto, charged with conducting a disorderly house in Louisville.

W. T. Phillips, a wealthy lawyer of Mercer county, died last Friday of pneumonia. His wife, who was apparently well, lay down on the bed beside him the day before and died in ten minutes. Both were buried in one grave.

At Madisonville, Policeman C. J. Statton was shot and killed by Ora Ferguson, who was resisting arrest for disorderly conduct. Ferguson was also fatally shot, but was dying spontaneously, and died about an hour after the shooting.

It is stated that Mrs. Carrie Nation, the famous saloon wrecker of Kansas, was born in Woodford county. She was Carrie Moore, daughter of George Moore, who once lived on a farm between Midway and Versailles. In her girlhood she was a schoolmate of Senator J. C. S. Blackburn.

At Hanly, Jessamine county, Bud Legrand, a negro, twenty years of age, concealed himself under a bed at the residence of Daniel Combs, a employer, attempted to assault Mrs. Combs.

The frightened woman fled to the house of a neighbor and a party of men arrested Legrand and carried him to the Nicholasville jail.

While arranging her toilet Miss Edith Wilson, of Ligonier, almost lost her life. In leaning over to lace her shoes her side comes, which were folded, ignited from the grate, and in a moment her hair was enveloped in flames. But for the efforts of her mother the young lady's life would have been lost. Her mother was seriously burned.

The Louisville Republicans have caught the Post of that city and can't let it go. The Post is making life miserable for some of the Republican leaders, who are not willing to see a new convert assume the role of boss.

The saloon keepers of Kentucky can breathe freely now. "The Nation newspaper dug up a story that the Post was uniting with the Republicans to stop the Post of that city and can't let it go. The Post is making life miserable for some of the Republican leaders, who are not willing to see a new convert assume the role of boss."

WAYNE COUNTY.Steubenville.

The farmers of this vicinity are making a great effort in preparing their soil for the incoming season.

There are several nice bunches of caltis being fed in the neighborhood.

Business of all kinds is encouraging—not much loosing going on. Messrs. Parritt & Carroll, who carry a nice line of general merchandise, are doing a nice business and selling lots of goods.

Quarterly meeting at the Methodist church last Saturday and Sunday. Elder Jesse L. Murrell was present, and while the weather was very disagreeable there was a good congregation. In both days the preaching seemed to be very much enjoyed by all present.

The Baptist of this place will begin a series of meetings the second Sunday in Feb., Rev. Davidson, of McKinley, in the lead.

The commercial men do not fail to look after their interests in this section. There is a number in town Monday, a thriving country court.

Mr. E. M. Jones and wife, who have been lifelong citizens of Wayne county, having sold their possessions here to Mr. McDaniel of Russell county, started this week to look out for a future home. They contemplate making Kansas City, Mo., or elsewhere their future abiding place. The people of Wayne county wish them a happy life in their old age.

The school here under the management of Prof. Morrow, graduate from the Lexington University, is a grand success. Mr. Morrow is a first-class gentleman and a fine instructor.

The young ladies of Lockett's Chapel church are making a most energetic raising money to send the Gospel to the heathen lands. They are progressing nicely in their collections.

Elder Murrell preached Sunday night at the Methodist church in Monticello. A large congregation was present. Bro. Murrell seems to have a host of friends in the Mouton the work, he being but the former pastor.

"I bubbled into Dr. Jackson's drug store one evening," says F. W. Nelson, of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine as they all failed. He said: 'Well if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it home and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not been troubled with rheumatism." Sold by M. Graves.

The old man in the world, it has been discovered, is a Russian who is 336 years of age, and the oldest woman is Mrs. Nancy Hollifield, of Battle Creek, Mich., who is 117.

Tractors, Etc.

Mark Twain and former President Harrison have heretofore been regarded as excellent types of the American citizen—proud of their country, jealous for its good name, solicitous that its Government shall remain true to the principles of liberty upon which it was founded.

It is becoming sadly certain, however, that the great American philosopher-humorist and the Republican ex-President of the United States are placing themselves in the category of traitors under the McKinley definition. They dare to deny that McKinley is doing God's will in enslaving, or else slaughtering, a little people who are fighting for their freedom.
